We are excited for the partnership between the Virginia Society of Otolaryngology & the West Virginia Academy of Otolaryngology at this year's joint meeting!

Both societies are made up of the states' leading physicians in the treatment of ear, nose and throat diseases. This conference gives you ample opportunities to interact with over 120 otolaryngologists from Virginia and West Virginia, from all corners and specialties, including those from Virginia's and West Virginia's top medical schools.

Now joined by our colleagues from Virginia and West Virginia, this conference offers an even more robust and collaborative regional gathering!
